

Write a program that takes an infix expression as an input and produces a postfix expression. Use stack to convert an infix expression into postfix expression. Include a function that evaluates a postfix expression.