During the first week, you will need to read the syllabus and provide your input about what machine learning is and how it has evolved.

The book we will follow for the first three weeks is by Ethem Alpaydin, published by The MIT Press in 2020.

For the first week, you will need to do the following:

1. Write: “I read and agree with the syllabus.”

2. Do some research and write about the following question:

What is the future of machine learning, and how will it evolve?

Write your answers to Questions 1 and 2 directly in the assignment.